

How providing development opportunities can better prepare your emerging talent

As a manager, you have a responsibility to ensure your emerging talent is prepared to take on a management role. This can be done by providing them with development opportunities that will help them to build the skills and experience they need to succeed.

Be clear when delegating tasks.	It's important to be clear when delegating tasks to your emerging talent. This means providing them with a clear understanding of what is expected of them, and the resources they will need to complete the task. Delegation is a key skill for managers, and it's essential to ensure that your team members are clear on their responsibilities. What can help: Delegation, Communication, Teamwork, Leadership
Develop your leadership style.	Developing your leadership style is essential for success as a manager. This means understanding your own strengths and weaknesses, and how they can be used to lead your team effectively. There are many different leadership styles, and it's important to find the one that works best for you and your team. What can help: Leadership, Management
Strengthen your presentation skills.	Strong presentation skills are essential for success as a manager. This means being able to communicate your ideas clearly and effectively to your team and other stakeholders. Presentation skills are also important for building your confidence and credibility as a leader. What can help: Delegation, Communication, Confidence
Be prepared when leading teams.	Being prepared when leading teams is essential for success as a manager. This means having a clear understanding of your team's needs and goals, and being able to adapt to changes as they arise. Preparation is also important for building your confidence and credibility as a leader. What can help: Confidence
Build your confidence before leading a management task.	Building your confidence before leading a management task is essential for success as a manager. This means taking small steps to build your confidence, such as delegating tasks or leading a meeting. Confidence is a key skill for managers, and it's important to ensure that you are confident enough to take on a management role. What can help: Leadership
Be better prepared for taking on a management role.	Being better prepared for taking on a management role is essential for success as a manager. This means gaining experience in a management role, and building the skills and experience you need to succeed. Preparation is also important for building your confidence and credibility as a leader. What can help: Delegation, Communication, Teamwork, Leadership

